Final meeting of the Anti-Hunger Action Committee

For 17 years a group of food pantry clients and volunteers has been coming up with creative ways to promote justice for Utah's poor. Tomorrow will be the final meeting of the Anti-Hunger Action Committee. Learn more about the history of the Anti-Hunger Action Committee here.

Sign the pledge to help reduce child homelessness

The Coalition of Religious Communities is asking clergy, congregations, community organizations, candidates and elected officials in Salt Lake County to sign the Pledge to help reduce child homelessness. If you are willing to sign the form please enter information about yourself and any organization or group you represent below. You can see the pledge for Salt Lake County here. We are developing a pledge for Weber County and would love to create one for other parts of Utah if people are willing to help collect signatures.

We will be posting a list of individuals and organizations that have signed the pledge soon and will be adding names all year.

Have you signed the pledge to help reduce child homelessness?
