

Is your business prepared for interruptions?

Introducing Outsmart Disaster

---

Edison International is pleased to support Outsmart Disaster and bring tools, training, and resources to help Southern California businesses become resilient in the face of natural disasters and other hazards that could cause business interruptions.

Sign up for the Resilient Business Training

---

Want to hear an expert walk you through the steps on how to prepare your business for interruptions? This live webinar training* features a concise and cohesive curriculum developed by state and local economic development experts experienced in providing businesses with assistance.

*Training is offered in Southern California with support from Edison International.

Download the Resiliency Toolkit

---

In a rush or looking for something specific? Our Resiliency Toolkit includes a variety of resources that will help make your business more resilient and are available to review at your own pace.

Engage in the Resilient Business Challenge

---

Interested in taking a closer look at your business' resiliency? Our online Resilient Business Challenge will guide you through the key steps you'll need to take and offers financial incentives that may be available for your business.

Visit OutsmartDisaster.com/Edison to get started today.

The Outsmart Disaster Campaign was designed by California's Business Consumer Services and Housing Agency (BCSH) to communicate risks, provide resources, and call to action businesses and organizations with the goal of collectively becoming more prepared to reduce damages and speed up business recovery in California. With the help of BCSH's campaign partner, The California Academy for Economic Development, the goal of the campaign is to assist interested participants in their endeavor to become resilient.