STEP 8, the final reveal for Mystery at the Mansion

Figure 7

With THIS FINAL STEP, we get to make some choices.

You can choose to lay out the blocks in four rows, with four blocks in each row. Setting your blocks in this configuration will result in your quilt measuring approximately 48" x 48". Adding a 2½" inner border plus a 5½" outer border, as pictured in Figure 7, will result in a quilt approximately 62" x 62". Cut your borders in several WOF strips (how many strips depends on your measurements), and piece together to attain the length needed. Sew your side borders on, measure, and then add the top/bottom borders.

We recommend measuring the center of your quilt from top-to-bottom before cutting your side borders, and from side-to-side (again through the center of the quilt) before cutting your top/bottom borders. Measuring through the center will result in a more accurate measurement, as the quilt's edges may have stretched as you worked on it.

OR, YOU COULD CHOOSE TO PLACE SASHING BETWEEN THE BLOCKS AND ROWS. This would (of course) enlarge your quilt, and require longer strips for your borders. Once again, if you add sashing, be sure to measure your quilt through its center to get an accurate measurement for the length of your borders.
