

You are invited!

Let's talk about credentials in Clinical Research.
Whether you're hiring Clinical Research Professionals or working as one, your perspective is important.

We're studying how professional credentials impact:

- Employer decisions around hiring, promotion, and advancement
- CRPs' own career opportunities and development
- Areas where employer expectations and employee experiences don't line up

Share your insights to help shape clearer, more effective career pathways.

You are eligible if you are a:

- Clinical research professional and/or
- Part of the hiring/advancement process of clinical research professionals
