

Marie Conforti answers a question at the VNA Caregiver Conference

VNA Holds Caregiving Event in Sebastian

VERO BEACH, Fla. – (Tuesday, November 14, 2017) – The Visiting Nurse Association (VNA) of the Treasure Coast recently held its bi-annual VNA Caregiver Conference. The purpose of this free event is to connect caregivers with local resources to help alleviate some of their caregiving stress. This is the fourth conference the VNA has conducted, and it was the first time it has taken place in Sebastian. Pelican Landing graciously provided the space and breakfast for the event.

"We started the VNA Caregiver Conference because we saw an opportunity to put caregivers in the same room with local organizations and allow them to ask questions and learn about what resources are available to their families," said Steve Smith, VNA director of marketing and communications. "We've had great success with this conference and are continuously looking for new ways or topics that will benefit even more people."

A large portion of the conference is an open question and answer series where attendees can ask their questions to a panel of local experts. The panelists for the most recent conference included Theresa Tolle from Bay Street pharmacy; Peggy Cunningham from the Alzheimer and Parkinson Association of Indian River County; Shawna Callaghan from the Senior Resource Association; Marie Conforti, elder law attorney; and Kathy Orton from the VNA. Tolle kicked off the conference with a presentation entitled "Making the Most of Your Doctor's Visits."

The VNA is the only non-profit home care and hospice provider in Indian River County. For over 40 years, this community has trusted VNA nurses, therapists, home health aides and staff to care for them in their homes. Patients and families benefit from the VNA's unique ability of offering a continuum of care through the organizations main service lines of VNA Private Care, VNA Home Health and VNA Hospice.

IRMC Recognized by American Association of Critical-Care Nurses with Bronze Level Beacon Award for Excellence

The American Association of Critical-Care Nurses (AACN) in Aliso Viejo, California, recently conferred a bronze-level Beacon Award for Excellence on Indian River Medical Center.

The Beacon Award for Excellence — a significant milestone on the path to exceptional patient care and healthy work environments — recognizes unit caregivers who successfully improve patient outcomes and align practices with AACN's six Healthy Work Environment Standards. Units that earn this three-year, three-level award with a gold, silver or bronze designation meet national criteria consistent with Magnet Recognition, the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award and the National Quality Healthcare Award.

AACN President Christine Schulman, MS, RN, CNS, CCRN-K, applauds the commitment of the caregivers at IRMC for working together to meet and exceed the high standards set forth by the Beacon Award for Excellence. These dedicated healthcare professionals join other members of our exceptional community of nurses, who set the standard for optimal patient care. Read more...

Women's Baseball tournament at Historic Dodgertown shows love for the game has no limits

Participants represent various professional career paths, including the MLB Commissioner's Office

More than 80 women representing five teams traveled to Historic Dodgertown – Vero Beach this past weekend for a Women's Baseball tournament, and played on the property the same as 60 years of Major League Dodger baseball.

The women traveled from Toronto, Washington, DC, New England and northern states, and from Florida to participate in the tournament. This is the fourth visit to Historic Dodgertown by this Women's Baseball tournament group.

"We chose this tournament in Vero Beach because we love to come to Florida in November, as this lengthens our tournament season," said tournament organizer Alana McKinley, who also plays for the Toronto Fusion of the Ontario Women's Baseball League. "This is a well-run tournament. The fields are unbelievable and it is a real treat for us. Play and stay – Historic Dodgertown has everything we need."

Women's baseball tournaments welcome players as young as age 13. The women play in regular leagues and on travel ball teams throughout the year. Clinics for girls ages 13-17 are held to encourage interest and to let all women know there are opportunities for them to play baseball. Softball camp and seeing the girls' reaction upon entering the Major League Clubhouse, fitness rooms, meeting rooms and more. For many of the girls, this was the first time they encountered a truly professional experience. Read more

Indian River Medical Center (IRMC) welcomes board certified internist and dermatologist Lilia Correa-Selm to its multi-specialty group of physicians.

Dr. Correa-Selm brings to the institution many assets as her training has been a very diverse one. She was the Chief Resident during her dermatology residency at Rutgers-Robert Wood Johnson Medical School and then completed a Mohs and Dermatologic Oncology fellowship in Affiliated Dermatologists and Dermatologic Surgeons at the Morristown Medical Center in Morristown, NJ. She is also an international dermatologist from her home country (Venezuela), where she attended medical school.

After graduating from medical school, she spent one year as a physician in a remote underserved area of South America. Subsequently, she performed research at Harvard's renowned Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center in Boston, completed her Internal Medicine residency at Cornell New York Downtown Hospital and performed research at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer in New York. Dr. Correa's experience also includes completing a confocal microscopy fellowship and performing multiple clinical trials involving laser related treatment, cosmeceuticals and body contouring.

"We are very pleased to welcome Dr. Correa to the medical staff," James Grichnik, M.D., Director, Scully-Welsh Cancer Center. "With her Mohs surgery experience, she will be an asset to our team of physicians in treating the needs of our community."

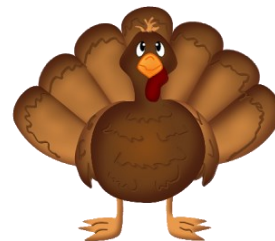

Dr. Correa's office is on the second floor of the Scully-Welsh Cancer Center located on the campus of Indian River Medical Center in Vero Beach. For more information or to schedule an appointment, please call (772) 226-4800.

Welcome in the Holidays at the Auxiliary of IRMC's Florence Booms Celebration of Lights

Please join Indian River Medical Center at the 27th anniversary of the Auxiliary's Florence Booms Celebration of Lights ceremony Thursday, Dec. 7, at 6 p.m. on the hospital grounds.

Please join Chaplain Robert Bremer and Rabbi Michael Birnholz as they welcome the Holiday season. Highlights include songs of the season performed by Cantor Alisa Forman from Temple Beth Shalom and the Don Kelly Family. Refreshments will be available in the Ambulatory Services Center lobby following the Christmas Tree and Chanukah Menorah lighting.

The Celebration of Lights plays a dual role as it heralds in the holidays while at the same time raises money for worthwhile projects through donations ranging from $5 to $500 toward a light. Contributions can be made for a light in honor or in memory of a relative or friend. For details, call Maureen Luther, director, Volunteer Services, at (772) 567-4311, x1133.

The money raised through the Celebration of Lights is used to purchase necessary equipment and education programs that allow the Women's Health Care team to continue to provide quality healthcare to the community. Past purchases include newborn cardiac monitors, birthing beds, infant warmers, fetal monitors, apnea monitors, the overhead lullaby system, thermometers, otoscopes, ophthalmoscopes, a Bili Blanket, jaundice meters, infant hearing screening equipment and educational programs for nurses.
