Partner Services are critical to stopping the spread of STIs, HIV, and viral hepatitis. This training will equip you with practical skills to conduct effective, patient-centered, and culturally responsive partner services. Strengthen your confidence, improve field effectiveness, and enhance your ability to protect the health of your community.

There is no cost for participation and will be hosted on Zoom.

Dr. Mariska Osborne-Wells,

Dr. Mariska Osborne-Wells has worked with the Denver Prevention Training Center in the Disease Intervention Training Center for the last five years, adding to her passion of working with others that want to see continued innovation in STI/HIV prevention/innovation.

Dr. Osborne-Wells started her public health career long before working for an official public health entity. Her career started in geriatric care in a nursing home, where she got to see the impact of aging and disease on those around her. Dr. Osborne-Wells is a veteran of the Armed Forces, and while proud to have worn so many hats, there is so much more to do, and she chose to make a mark through sharing the knowledge she has gained with others.
