

K Redford, Vice-president

K met her husband, Eb, in a math class at New Mexico State University in the fall of their junior year. They were married that summer, completed their degrees in mathematics, and immediately moved to New Jersey. Eb received his master's degree at NYU and continued with a career in IT. K stayed home with their two children for several years before completing a master's program in education. She taught at a small private school and was the head of the math department when she retired.

The family enjoyed exploring cities in the northeast and overseas. Camping, hiking and cross-country skiing in the Adirondacks, the Alps, Colorado and Norway were favorite activities. With a son in Germany and a daughter in Oakland, travel became a necessity as well as a pleasure. Three of their five grandchildren are in college, and family gatherings have become more complicated.

Many family trips were made to visit relatives in the 4-Corners, and when it was time to retire, Durango was an easy decision. K, a Unitarian since 1970, joined UUFD in 2003, when they moved full-time to Durango. She has been an active member of the fellowship, and Vice-President is the only Board position she has not held – until now.
