

Olivia Hoover's aunt, Jessica Baker, shared all of the most iconic sights in Washington, D.C., with Olivia's Flat Me.

The trip, of course, included a stop at the Lincoln Memorial.

She also visited Virginia ...

MOUNT VERNON

George Washington's Mount Vernon home – the view from Bolling Green.

President Washington bought his home in 1762 and over 37 years turned it into a beautiful, 21-room residence.

Today, Mount Vernon is still considered a working farm with livestock that live on the estate. Flat Olivia loved seeing the sheep!

There is a museum on the property that contains artifacts from the life and time of Martha and George Washington.

The Washington Monument was built in honor of George Washington and it is the tallest building in Washington, D.C.

The World War II Memorial opened in April 2004 and honors the 16 million who served in the armed forces and the over 400,000 who died.

Flat Olivia was proud to see the column honoring the WWII armed forces members from the state of Georgia.
