(.5 Social Studies Credit)

Rising 9th-12th grade

June 11th-29th (5 days a week) from 9am-1pm

This course takes a historical perspective at the American Presidency. During the three weeks, we will examine the powers of the office, its place in the American imagination, and the achievements of the most significant presidents. Structured chronologically, the course emphasizes the growth and transformation of the office and how it has come to assume its dominant place in the political landscape. Individual presidents are studied to understand not only their own times but also relevant issues with which they are associated. Taught by Steve Jobe
