

Flat Joe
arrived
this past week to Sedona,
Arizona!!

He was so excited to get out of the
mailbox,
he flew
right out
into a cactus!!!

Ouch!!!

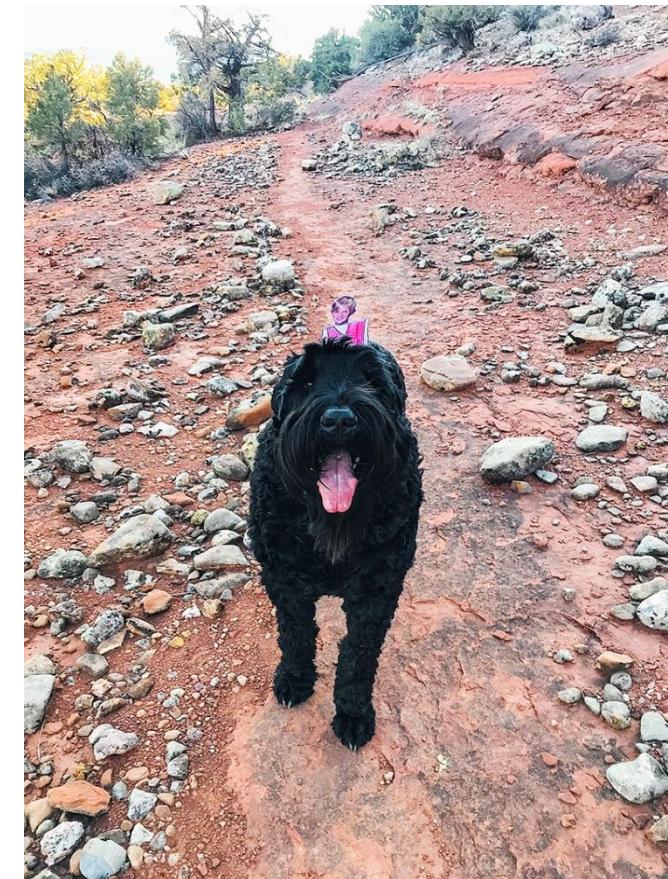

Luckily, May May and Max were excitedly awaiting his arrival, and were there to save him!

Flat Joe made besties with Atlas dog on the first day! Atlas couldn't wait to show him his favorite walking trail, right out his back door! He walks this trail with May May everyday. The trail goes to his favorite spot underneath the red rock structure called 'Bunny Ears'... can you see why? The trail goes to his favorite spot underneath the red rock structure called 'Bunny Ears'... can you see why?

Flat Joe Loves riding on Atlas's back for the walks...but then a breeze came and he flew off into another, even bigger prickly pear cactus!!! But this time Atlas was there to save him.

They stopped for a bit to rest by this small Hoodoo after his second cactus incident.. Have you ever seen a Hoodoo formation, Joe?
