SPRING TRADITION

Terry Dickson/The Brunswick News

Frederica Academy fourth-grade girls circle barefoot around the May Pole as they wrap the pole with colorful ribbons. At least 900 turned out Friday to watch Frederica Academy's combined Grandparents Day and traditional May Day ceremony along with the upper school honors day. Like other institutions, the school had to avoid large crowds during successive large outbreaks of COVID-19 in 2020 and 2021. It was a day when many students wore spring dresses and blazers and khaki pants in the traditional annual celebration.

County fire chief looking for assistant

By TAYLOR COOPER

Glynn County Fire Rescue Chief R.K. Jordan does not see his job as one that can be accomplished behind a desk.

And yet, that's where he often finds himself, unable to even get out of the department's headquarters off the Ga. 25 Spur most days. He has a solution, and that's to hire an assistant fire chief to handle the day-to-day management of the fire department's four divisions — operations, emergency medical services, professional standards and special services.

"A fire chief is the leader of the department so it would free me up to do the long-range planning, do succession planning, work toward fire department accreditation," Jordan told The News.

He offered this solution to the Elections board mails cards

to voters

By HANK ROWLAND

The Glynn County Board of Elections is mailing precinct cards to thousands of registered voters on the islands and the mainland.

Unless the recipient has a change of address, no action is required. A change of address form is on the back of the card.

"Not all registered voters are receiving one," said Chris Channell, county director of elections and registration. "They will only receive one if something has changed in their district or precinct."

"They tell a voter that they are registered, their precinct, their Friends, family of late musician gather to mourn, remember his life

By TAYLOR COOPER

Travis Payne's family and friends gathered in Jekyll Square in downtown Brunswick Thursday to mourn and remember the impact he had on everyone he met.

Music filled the square adjacent to Tipsy McSway's — a bar and restaurant at which Payne worked and spent much of his time — as mourners laughed, cried, caught up with old friends and discussed the late musician and bartender.

A 41-year-old Glynn County native, Payne died earlier this month as a result of injuries suffered during an altercation with Edward Aaron Hunter III, 17, of Waynesville, at a private party at I-95 Toyota of Brunswick, according to Glynn County police.

Hunter was arrested a little less than a week later on charges of felony involuntary manslaughter and fighting. He remained in the Glynn County Detention Center on Friday.

Father Tim McKeown, pastor at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, delivered some words of comfort and prayer. He recited the first few verses of Chapter 14
