Pastor Niemeier's Note:

My Brothers and Sisters at Messiah,

One of the great joys of the Easter Triduum (the three days that lead up to Easter) for me is the Easter Vigil service. Why? The Vigil reminds us of the work God has done for his people across history. We hear about his plan to save his people and redeem them from the very beginning, starting at Creation, and see again and again how God has worked this plan for his people at different times and in different places—Noah, the Exodus, the Fiery Furnace, and finally, with Christ's resurrection. And we get to see it happen before our eyes, too, when there are baptisms, or we are reminded of our own baptisms and know that God's plan includes our being saved.

The Vigil also connects us to very old traditions of the church. There is fire, the blessing of the Paschal Candle, the chanting of ancient songs. There is darkness and light. And there is, often, the reading of a particular ancient homily, the "Catechetical Sermon on Easter," attributed to St. John Chrysostom, the 4th Century archbishop of Constantinople.

If you've been in church these last two years, you'll know by now that I love to quote St. John "the Golden Mouthed" in my sermons. I can't help it—the man is good! And this is one of the sermons that really made me love him. It is often read during the Vigil of Easter in the Eastern Orthodox churches, but I first heard it preached in a little Lutheran church in Worden, Illinois, several years ago. I love Chrysostom's message here; how he first gives good news to all people (borrowing from Jesus' parable of the workers in the vineyard), that all shall enjoy the rewards Jesus' resurrection brings, and then how he describes the great defeat Jesus imposes upon Death and Hell. It's very hard to say it better than Chrysostom.

If you were at the Easter Vigil service this year, then you, too, heard this sermon. If you missed it, I have reproduced it again for you here, translated newly for you from the Greek so that you, too, can hear this ancient sermon again and be filled with joy from the good news that these words bring!

In His grip,
Pastor Nils Niemeier

Sermo Catecheticus in Pascha

Translated 2022 by Nils Niemeier. Bracketed text indicates lines commonly included in English translations not present in the Greek text recorded in Migne's Patrologiae Graecae LIX.721-723.

If anyone is pious and a lover of God, let them enjoy this happy [bright] festival!

If anyone is a grateful servant, let them come rejoicing into the grace of their Lord!

If anyone is worn out with fasting, let them now take their pay!

If anyone worked from the first hour, let them receive what they are properly owed today!

If anyone came after the third hour, then let them celebrate [this] festival of thanksgiving!

If anyone showed up no sooner than the sixth hour, don't fret: for you won't lose a thing!

If anyone came later than the ninth hour, let them come, doubting nothing!

If anyone arrived later, even at the eleventh hour, do not let them be afraid on account of their lateness!

For the Master, lavish in his gifts, receives the last one just as he does the first; he gives rest to the one who arrives at the eleventh hour in the same way that he gives rest to the one who came at the first hour; he shows mercy to the latter and cares for the former; and to that one, he gives, and to this one it is granted. He honors the work, and he approves the purpose.

Surely then, let us all go into the delight of our Lord! First and second, take your reward! The rich and the poor, dance with one another! Stoics and carefree, celebrate the day! Those fasting and those not fasting, make merry today! For the board is groaning under the feast. Eat richly, all of you! The calf is fatted! Let no one go away hungry! [Drink, all of you, from the cup of faith!] All of you, enjoy the wealth of his goodness!

Let no one grieve their poverty, for the kingdom common to all is revealed.

Let no one lament his stumblings, for forgiveness has risen from the grave.

Let no one fear death, for the death of our Savior has freed us.
He destroyed death by enduring it.
He punished Hell when he descended into it.
He embittered Hell when it tasted his flesh.
And Isaiah, anticipating this, shouted: "Hell, it is said, was embittered. It was embittered when it encountered You below."

Hell was embittered, for it was thrown down.
Hell was embittered, for it was mocked.
[Hell was embittered, for it was destroyed.]
[Hell was embittered, for it is now captured.]
Hell took a body, and found God.
Hell took earth, and found Heaven.
Hell took the very thing that it saw, and fell on account of what it did not see.

Where, o Death, is your sting?
Where, o Hell, is your victory?
Christ is risen, and you are overthrown!
Christ is risen, and the demons are cast down!
Christ is risen, and the angels rejoice!
[Christ is risen, and life is set free!]
Christ is risen, and there is no corpse in the tomb!
For Christ, who has been raised from the dead, has become the firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep!
To him be glory and power unto the ages of ages! Amen.

together. Plan on coming to a reunion of our church-family.
There will be ONE SERVICE THAT DAY AT 9:30 am.
Bring something to share. It's time to get back to fellowship!
Games, good food, fellowship & fun for the whole family.
See sign up sheet in the narthex or sign up online (Home page

MIDWEEK BIBLE STUDY

We're studying and discussing Kings, an account of the end of the united kingdom of Israel and Judah, its split, the kings of both kingdoms, and their eventual downfall to foreign powers. We'll learn about Solomon and how he lost the kingdom, and we'll learn about his successors and whether or not they were worthy to wear the mantle of David or not. We'll also meet Elijah and Elisha as they perform their prophetic ministries, calling Israel and Judah to repentance. There will be intrigue and murder, prophets, false gods and evil queens—but through it all, God keeps his promises to the House of David, laying the groundwork for his people's redemption. Contact the church office if you would like to join in—everyone is welcome to join at any time!

WOMEN'S BIBLE STUDY

The Women's Bible class is held on Thursday evenings at 7pm in person assuming COVID cases remain low. There will be more details announced via email and on the website (with a sign-up form). Spring is the perfect time to "cultivate" your understanding of scripture and "grow" your relationship with Jesus. Let's get busy in our spiritual garden!

Join us Friday, May 20th at 3 pm.

Come and help us assemble kits for Lutheran World Relief! We can always use lots and lots of helpers. Also, please keep bringing Ivory or Dove Soap Bars! Thank you!

The Garden Club has started back up! If you would like to help keep the church grounds looking beautiful, please join us! We usually meet on Tuesdays at 10am, but if you can't make it then, come when you can. Contact Nancy with any questions, goat322@optonline.net

The current Garden Club is aging and we are in need of younger members to help clean up the church property (weeding, raking, trimming, etc). This can be done as your schedule allows.

The Altar Guild will meet on Wednesday, May 4th at 1:30pm in the Council Room. Thank you to all those who came to help with decorating the Narthex & Sanctuary for Easter. If anyone is interested in joining this group or finding out about what we do, please come to our meeting on May 4th or speak with Ruth Hawkins.

Soli Deo Gloria

Ruth Hawkins for the Altar Guild
