

BARABOO AREA CHAMBER & TOURISM

AND FOR MY NEXT TRICK, A JUGGLING ROUTINE

George Althoff
Executive Director

Let me begin with a heartfelt “thank you” to the many of you who have reached out to congratulate me on being hired as Executive Director of your Baraboo Area Chamber of Commerce.

My first three weeks on the job have been action-packed as I immerse myself into the external and internal demands of the job. I’m fortunate to have three great co-workers in Ben Bromley, Kristi Feld and Michele Feld – all three of whom I know personally – to help with my transition.

Having spent nine years as a member of the Chamber’s Board of Directors (2010-18), I know that the job of the Executive Director is like a juggling act. There are always several balls in the air at once, and your job as Executive Director is make sure that none of them hit the floor. So, as we head into the holiday season, what balls are currently in the air?

For starters, the Chamber will host a raffle drawing party this Saturday (Nov. 6) at the Baraboo Arts Center. Doors open at 2:30 p.m. and the drawings for the 10 prizes will be held at halftime of the Badger game. This event will be open only to Chamber members. Please stop in and enjoy pizza from Gem City and beer from the Al. Ringling Brewery. Of course, if you haven’t yet purchased any raffle tickets, we’ll have them at the door.

On Tuesday, Nov. 30, from 1 to 6 p.m., the Chamber will host “Giving Tuesday Fair,” a post-Cyber Monday event designed to highlight the great work of the dozens of nonprofit organizations in the Baraboo Area. This will be an opportunity for philanthropic-minded people to consider financial support of the nonprofit groups featured at the fair. This event also will be held at the Baraboo Arts Center. More information will be coming soon through member e-mail blasts, social media and other advertising outlets.

Further down the horizon is the upcoming election of several new board members, the Chamber’s Annual Dinner in January, and selection of recipients in our annual business awards program. Stay tuned for details.

I hope to see you soon at an upcoming Chamber event.

New event on Giving Tuesday puts spotlight on nonprofit organizations

The Chamber is launching a new Giving Tuesday event to showcase nonprofit members. Please mark your calendar for November 30th!

Sponsored by the Community Foundation of South Central Wisconsin with a generous grant from the Network for Charitable Giving, this event will give local nonprofits an opportunity to network with potential donors and volunteers. The Chamber's goal is to highlight its nearly 50 nonprofit members and give them an opportunity to promote their crucial work to the greater community.

The event will be held from 1-6 p.m. at Baraboo Arts on Tuesday, November 30th. There will be door prizes, including two lucky winners of $50 in Chamber Bucks. In addition, our participating nonprofits will contribute door prizes to be drawn during the afternoon.

Light refreshments will be served, and MAX FM will broadcast live from the event, interviewing representatives of participating organizations!

If the event reaches its attendance goal of 500 people, the Ho-Chunk Gaming Fund at the Community Foundation of South Central Wisconsin will offer a $500 grant to one of the nonprofit exhibitors, with the winner to be selected by random drawing at the event.

Nonprofits interested in participating should register HERE.

We were thrilled to welcome Gateway Powersports to the Chamber during its open house October 8. Gateway offers parts, sales and service on snowmobiles, ATVs and UTVs at its new home on Highway BD.

We need you on (the) board!

The Chamber will have multiple open seats on its Board of Directors at the end of December. We're seeking nominations for directors to serve three-year terms.

Our board is made up of 17 directors who serve three-year terms. Upon completing their first term, directors may then run to serve a second three-year term. The board handles the BACC's governance and policy making. The board also is responsible for the organization's finances and directs its affairs.

If you are interested in serving and helping to guide the organization forward, we would love to hear from you.

The board meets monthly, plus each board member serves on a committee, which also meets monthly. These meetings are typically one hour in length, requiring the dedication of 2-3 hours per month for meetings.

The board also supports the organization through events. Each board member should commit to actively attending, participating, and supporting the Chamber's annual events.

If you would like to submit a nomination to run for the BACC Board of Directors, please fill out this form and return it by email to director@baraboochamber.com by next Monday, November 8th. Ballots will then be distributed to the membership for voting.

Please consider running to serve this great organization as we further our mission of promoting tourism, local businesses and growing the economic health of our communities.

Consumers, nonprofits benefit from solar

The sun is an unlimited power source. Creating solar power is clean and simple. Solar power is sustainable and more affordable than ever. Solar is quickly becoming the power source of choice, said Bill Arbogast of Movement Solar, a Sauk County business.

Experts predict that by 2030 solar will be the most important source of energy for electricity on the planet.

Does solar really work here?

Yes! As a lifelong Wisconsinite, this answer surprises even me. But Wisconsin solar is happening and the potential in our state is virtually untapped. The Public Service Commission released a recent study which found that Wisconsin's rooftops could support enough solar panels to meet two thirds of the state's electricity needs. They could generate more annual electricity than all fossil fuel sources combined.

The technology has advanced, the efficiency is high and the costs are lower than before.

But is it right for each homeowner? In practical terms, homes with a south-facing roof with minimal shade are best, but in some cases east- and west-facing roofs can produce enough electricity to supply a home's needs.

How much might solar cost?

Total costs vary depending on the amount of power a home needs. But gone are the days where you had to pay out of pocket for solar. "We're excited to offer zero money upfront, low-interest financing, to all of our eligible homeowners," Arbogast said. "This eases a family's budget and the savings are immediate. The cost of solar will match what you're already paying the utility company or less."

A promotional graphic for SunRaising by Movement Solar. It features a sun icon at the top, followed by the text 'SunRaising BY MOVEMENT SOLAR', 'GO SOLAR.', 'SAVE MONEY.', 'GIVE BACK.', 'NOW AVAILABLE IN WISCONSIN!', '608-477-0659', and 'WWW.MOVEMENTSOLAR.NET'. There is also an image of a solar panel on a roof.

When is my break-even?

If you decide to purchase your solar outright, a solar array typically pays for itself in a relatively short amount of time, usually between seven and 12 years. With zero-down financing, the break even is immediate in the form of increased cash flow!

What about snow?

Snow can be a hindrance to solar production, but it's no deal-breaker. In fact, panels installed at an angle often quickly melt frozen accumulations on their own. Yearly weather patterns are taken into consideration during the assessment process and typical snow amounts are accounted for.

And here's the crazy part; solar panels are more efficient in cold climates than in hot ones. A lot of recent tech advancements have come out of Europe where climates are similar to Wisconsin. The panels we use are made in America but the tech was developed in Germany.

What about my roof?

Great care is made by solar installers not to damage a roof and the work is fully warrantied. Sometimes a homeowner wants a new roof, which Movement Solar takes care of before installing panels. The new roof and solar installation can be financed together with no down and may be eligible for tax credits.

See SOLAR, next page

Are incentives available?

On a federal level there's a 26 percent tax credit which allows you to reduce your costs. This is being stepped down at the end of 2022.

Additionally, Wisconsin offers a solar rebate of $500 for homeowners, small businesses and nonprofits. These two items combine for a significant financial impact.

Why Movement Solar?

Movement Solar is a company with a unique twist. Its founders believed the decision to go solar could have more impact than just utility savings. They also believed bigger impacts happen when like-minded people come together. This is why they launched SunRaising, a group purchase program to help homeowners get the best possible pricing on their solar installation while equally supporting nonprofits throughout the globe via a donation per install.

It was created by professionals classically trained at SolarCity and Tesla solar. They formed Movement to bring forth affordable solar and at the same time impact individuals and communities with a built-in give-back. SunRaising is their program that serves as a bridge between saving money and giving.

SunRaising has co-op style affordable pricing and gives back to the community by supporting local nonprofits. Partners might be a school raising funds for a new playground or a church that needs money for an outreach program.

The founders of Movement Solar knew that members of a community often want to support their local nonprofits but just don't have the extra funds to do so.

SunRaising addresses this in three ways: it makes solar affordable for all (no money upfront with eligible credit), a household saves a substantial amount of money, and those families give directly to a cause that's dear to their hearts. All at the same time.

The recent PSC study predicts that though solar rooftops could produce two thirds of the states energy needs, they predict that 98 percent of Wisconsin's potential will not be met under current market conditions. This is because solar can cost so much upfront money.

This is where SunRaising shines. Zero money down solar takes away that large obstacle. SunRaising can bring more solar to our state than any other program. People like to support their local organizations. This is why Movement Solar is different.

What's next if I'm interested?

That's easy. "We provide a free solar assessment so families can make an informed decision," Arbogast said. "The report is based on their energy needs and their location."

Anyone can register for this free service at movementsolar.net or call 608-477-0659. Organizations follow the same steps if they are interested in SunRaising.
