Mark Kunkin
Partner at Casey & Barnett, LLC

Marc Kunkin regularly appears before Federal courts, State courts and administrative agencies to protect the interests of self-storage operators in a wide array of issues ranging from Lien Law violations, General Business Law violations, breach of contract claims, consumer fraud claims as well as attempts seeking certification to proceed as a class action. He also counsels clients on risk management to avoid and/or minimize future disputes or litigation.

In addition, Marc's practice includes drafting Occupancy Agreements and protection plans, working with clients to ensure compliance with Lien Law requirements, as well as applicable rules and regulations, advising clients on the scope of their insurance coverage and drafting a variety of other agreements for use by operators to meet their specific needs and those of their customers.