My name is Robbie Smith. I am currently employed with Storage Asset Management (SAM), a self-storage management company based out of York, PA. I am a District Manager in New York for SAM for over 3 ½ years. My territory currently expands to 13 self-storage facility properties across New York with plans to add 5 additional facilities by years end. I have been involved in several transitions of properties around the country taking part in several ground up facilities starting from the very beginning of when new properties are acquired all the way through opening day. Prior to SAM and managing storage, I was a United States Marine for 8 years, worked in Retail management for over 20+ years, and most recently a District Manager for PepsiCo in multiple New York markets, the last being in the Bronx, NY market.

I have the privilege of managing an excellent team consisting of 26 assistant and store managers. I take great pride in watching each one grow individually and develop upon their skills and strengths. As part of a new district manager's training, they train within the NY district. My belief of building a strong team that is continuously growing and functions cohesively with each other makes for a great work environment for all. I am very enthusiastic about promoting the highest level of service and results through the hiring of outstanding team members. My passion, drive, and direction has always been taking ownership and building partnerships through networking and growing each team member to their highest potential.

Currently, I live in the Hudson Valley of New York. When not working, I enjoy golf, working out, but mostly spending time with my two children.
