Daybreak is a husband and wife team. Brad plays piano, accordion, autoharp, or penny whistle, depending on the venue, and both sing. They specialize in pop songs from the 1950s, 60s and 70s, and also stage and screen musicals of the same era. They do gospel, hymns and contemporary Christian if requested, or music appropriate for weddings. Brad likes to play worship, "easy listening" and soft jazz music. He can do piano background for your banquet or other special occasion; or, for a festive touch, and portability, the accordion.

Brad and Mary live in the Harrisburg area, where they currently serve with a church worship team in central Pennsylvania and sing in concerts with the Hershey Community Chorus.

They also have provided musical entertainment at nursing facilities, retirement centers, and community events.

Brad is a native of Vermont, where he began playing piano at a young age. He lived most of his adult years in Connecticut, moving to Pennsylvania in 2007 to marry Mary, who is a lifelong resident of Pennsylvania.
