Dana Childress, Ph.D. is an Early Intervention Professional Development Consultant with the Partnership for People with Disabilities at Virginia Commonwealth University. She has worked in the field of early intervention (EI) for more than 26 years as an educator, service coordinator, supervisor, trainer, author, and consultant. She currently works on Virginia's EI professional development team developing resources and conducting web-based and in-person training. She manages content for the Virginia Early Intervention Professional Development Center and the Early Intervention Strategies for Success blog, and co-hosts the EI on the Fly Podcast. Dana is the author of the book, Pause and Reflect: Your Guide to a Deeper Understanding of Early Intervention Practice (2021), and a co-author of the book, Family-Centered Practices in Early Intervention: Supporting Infants and Toddlers in Natural Environments (2015). Her interests include adult learning and EI service delivery, family centered practices, supporting family implementation of intervention strategies, and finding ways to help bridge the research-to-practice gap through interactive professional development for in-service EI practitioners.

Financial Disclosures:
- Salaried employee with Virginia Commonwealth University
- Royalties received from Brookes Publishing

Non-financial disclosure:
- Dana is a member of the Division for Early Childhood of the Council for Exceptional Children.