

Karmina Barrales is an Education Programs Consultant at the California Department of Education's (CDE) Homeless Education Program. Mrs. Barrales has been an educator for the last 20 years. She started her career teaching in her former elementary schools before moving to Sacramento where she supported early learning programs (private, state and expanded learning). Mrs. Barrales has been at the California Department of Education for the last 7 years, starting in Early Learning and Care, then moving to the Student Support Division. For the last 2 years at the CDE, she has had the privilege of combining all of her educational expertise to support Homeless Education across the state working closely with the State Coordinator for Homeless Education.