2020 FALL LOSS PREVENTION

Limiting Exposure in the Litigation
Arena

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

Every provider's "arena" is unique. For some, it may be a hurried emergency room. While for others, it's a quiet place where they provide solace to a dying patient. Your arena is filled with triumphs every day—but when litigation arises, those triumphs can feel like defeats. According to the American Medical Association, more than one in three physicians will be involved in a claim during their careers.

Join KAMMCO for pointers and risk management tips to successfully defend your arena like a champion. You will gain insights from our knowledgeable presenters on how to lower your exposure and reduce your chances of future litigation. This presentation is structured around real-life case examples of medical professional liability claims. There are no practice rounds when you're involved in a claim. Learn from others to ensure you don't come up short.

OBJECTIVES

1. Identify weaknesses related to handoffs between practitioners, and describe best practices to reduce exposure.
2. Proactively detect and document patient noncompliance and co-morbidities to reduce potential claims.
3. Strengthen communication based upon examples of specific medical professional liability claims.
4. Implement recommended strategies to reduce exposure to claims.
5. Identify complex issues, and understand what it takes to defend medical professional liability claims.

"...more than one in three physicians will be involved in a claim during their careers."
