About the Center

The National Tribal Child Welfare Center for Innovation and Advancement (the center) serves as the Children's Bureau's primary vehicle for delivering effective, high-quality resources, training, and technical assistance aligned with traditional customs, values, and beliefs to Tribal child welfare programs receiving federal funding through title IV-B.

The Center team is dedicated to providing individualized technical assistance through innovative service approaches that uphold Tribal sovereignty and cultural values. Grounded in Indigenous Ways of Knowing, our integrative and collaborative framework enables us to share knowledge and expertise designed to support and strengthen Tribal Child Welfare systems, leading to improved outcomes for children, youth, and families.

The Center is now accepting requests for training and technical assistance from eligible Title IV-B Tribal child welfare programs. To submit a request for more information or services, visit bit.ly/4iq29AQ

Service Priority Areas

The Center's services align with the following priority areas:
