ROSEMARY'S BABIES COMPANY AND CITY OF CINCINNATI – CITY OF CINCINNATI INVESTS $184,000 INTO SUPPORTIVE HOUSING

Cincinnati, OH, October 2020 – On October 28, 2020 at City Hall, Founder and CEO of Rosemary's Babies Company (RBC), Rosemary Oglesby-Henry, brought a mission close to her heart to a council meeting asking them to invest in something noble - supportive housing for adolescent parents. Currently, there is no supportive housing options in Greater Cincinnati that support parenting youth under 18 years of age. The new Holloway House & Resource Center will provide transitional housing, parenting classes, financial literacy, life skills, and so much more.

Rosemary's Babies Company has identified an ideal location in Avondale offering multiple opportunities to better serve these young parents. "Our vision is to secure supporting housing and provide a safe place for teens and young parents to live with 24-hour access to caring adults; connecting them to community resources so they develop self sufficiency and can become engaged parents and productive members of their community," says Rosemary Oglesby-Henry.

Greg Landsman, Cincinnati City Councilman, "“Every single expecting mother in this city should have everything they need. Period. It's how we ensure every child is born on time with a healthy birth weight and that they have what they need to be developmentally on track in those critically important early months and years. Rosemary's Babies has done this for hundreds of expecting teen mothers. With this support from the city, Rosemary Babies will have a home for expecting teen mothers and will be able to help more children and families in more ways. Rosemary is a blessing to this city, and to those she and her team serves.”"

We are also grateful to DSD Advisors, LLC Matt Davis and Colleen Reynolds, City of Cincinnati Leaders, COMMUNITY PARTNERS/SUPPORTERS.

About Rosemary's Babies Company:

Established in 2016, Rosemary's Babies Company provides support to adolescent parents, ages 13-19, and their families. By providing support to three generations – the teen parent, the grandparent and the child – we change the trajectory for the entire family. RBC's mission is to help teen parents (moms and dads) master the concepts of self-leadership to break the cycle of poverty and become a productive member of their community. Since 2016, RBC has served over 400 families in Greater Cincinnati. For more information on Rosemary's Babies Company, please visit www.rosemarysbabies.co.
