1-DAY
HANDS-ON LECTURE

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Today's patients expect highly esthetic restorations that blend seamlessly with their natural dentition. While modern laboratories produce excellent restorations, achieving a perfect shade match can still be challenging due to variations in lighting conditions, surrounding dentition, and individual patient characteristics. As a result, dentists are often faced with restorations that require minor esthetic adjustments before final delivery.

This hands-on course is designed to help clinicians confidently customize and enhance the appearance of crowns using chairside stain and glaze techniques. Participants will learn practical methods for modifying restoration shade, value, chroma, and characterization to create more natural-looking results without having to remake or return restorations to the laboratory.

Led by Master Ceramist Todd Fong, CDT, this interactive half-day program combines clinical concepts with hands-on training using Aidite Stain Systems and the Aidite Porcelain Oven. Through live demonstrations and guided exercises, attendees will gain valuable skills that can be immediately implemented in daily practice to improve esthetic outcomes, patient satisfaction, and treatment efficiency.

Upon completion of this course, participants will learn to:

- Simplify zirconia selection
- Improve anterior esthetics
- Create natural-looking restorations with confidence
- Reduce chairside adjustments and remakes
- Develop repeatable characterization protocols
