

What stories will we build Our City with?

We have lots of opportunities to learn about the lives of celebrities and others deemed important in our society but, where can we learn the stories of our neighbors; and, how can those stories inspire us to share our own?

In City of Stories, artist Sushmita Mazumdar creates artworks inspired by stories from our community then, uses these as examples to encourage Arlington Public Schools Out of School Time staff to share their stories and artworks with the children they care for each day after school.

Come learn about the lives of people living and working here in Arlington - people who you may never see "on screen" or at award ceremonies; and see art works to compliment each story.
