

Opera NOVA

Presents
Celebrating African American Opera Singers Past and Present

It's going to be lit! You better not miss it!

The concert will include a recollection of the musical career of Coretta Scott King, soprano.

Special Guest: Patricia Miller
Director of Vocal Studies & Opera
Director at Georges Mason
University

Emcee Charles Williams
"A true patron saint of the voice."

Featuring singers Joyce Lundy, Elise Jenkins, Jackson Caesar, Dei Nikoi, and Marcel Sawyer, and accompanist Dr. Elizabeth Hill performing favorite opera passages, art songs, gospel and inspirational songs, and Broadway tunes

Sunday January 21, 2018, 3 PM

The Unitarian Universalist Church of Arlington, 4444 Arlington Boulevard, Arlington, VA 22204

Take US-50 to George Mason Boulevard SOUTH and turn immediately right into parking lot

Ticket price is $10, Donors $20, Members $7 Reservations urged

Please mail your payment to:

Opera NOVA, PO Box 7057, Arlington, VA 22207

PAY BY CHECK:

Amount (Payable to Opera NOVA): $_____

CASH: $_____

PLEASE CHARGE MY CREDIT CARD:

(NOTE: Opera NOVA accepts only MasterCard and VISA)

Amount to charge: $_____

Card Number: _____ - _____ - _____ - _____

Expiration date: _____ - _____

Name as it appears on Card: _____

"There are so many kids in this country who look at places like museums and concert halls and other cultural centers and they think to themselves, well, that's not a place for me, for someone who looks like me, for someone who comes from my neighborhood."

-Michelle Obama

Opera NOVA's passion is to use the arts to build the community so that the performing and visual arts are not considered a luxury or a frivolous matter but rather an expression of the unity and soul of our community. Opera NOVA's job is to acknowledge opera's beautiful music as Martin Luther noted as one of "the most magnificent and delightful presents God has given us" and share it with the entire community.

Miriam Miller, President Opera NOVA