Make and Take Workshop:

Early Literacy Workshop

This is the final workshop of our 3 part series! At this workshop, Special Education Preschool Teacher Karen Paparella will explain basic information about pre-literacy activities that can be done in the home. First, a presentation will be delivered on ways to encourage reading readiness skills and making adaptations to books for children with special needs. Then a make and take portion will follow, with all supplies provided. Participants will take home any materials created in the workshop. Presenters Jennifer Binstead (Workshop 1) and Ia Xiong (Workshop 2) will be available to answer questions and provide additional information about how and why we use visual communication supports and schedules for our non-verbal and verbal children. Please call ahead to let us know if you require any special accommodations in order to better access this workshop.
