

“The GCS program is well established, the building debt is almost completely paid off, and future resources can become more focused on the expansion of the school's offerings. Under the leadership of the long time school head, the school has flourished and continued to become a flagship school of excellence, expanding its enrollment, developing new facilities, enhancing the existing programs, and giving attention to a number of initiatives for improvement. This has been an opportunity to see the fruits of those labors from an outside and unbiased viewpoint.

The visiting team found that GCS is a school fully committed to its Christian mission, a robust academic program, and the cultivation of the spiritual health of all the students and families that choose to attend. In terms of fulfilling its mission, it is exceptional and has produced students who are well balanced and reflective of the excellence provided by the GCS staff. The development of the school's ESOs and their framework as an assessment framework are aiding the school in measuring their effectiveness in accomplishing that goal.”
