

The stewardship advocate

A role to inspire and empower stewardship in your meeting

Role overview

Stewardship advocates strengthen the stewardship ministry of your meeting/church by helping to integrate faith and stewardship principles with the needs of your meeting and its Friends.

This role is an opportunity to:

- Deepen the stewardship life
- Provide practical help
- Expand the reach of your caring community
- Accompany others through life's stages

Ministry activities

- Assist the meeting in stewardship education resources and events
- Stay informed through advocate training activities
- Connect Friends to Everence services and benefit programs
- Help inspire stewardship within the meeting
- Regularly report stewardship activities

Gifts of an advocate

- Desires to help meet stewardship needs in the meeting
- Works well with pastor, clerk and/or the meeting's caring network

- Helps others to integrate faith with financial decisions
- Is willing to volunteer one or two hours per month
- Is willing to serve two or three years

Selection/appointment process*

1. Advocates are selected by the meeting.
2. Meetings may consult with their Everence stewardship consultant about the advocate role or appointment process.

Advocate support

Your Everence stewardship consultant provides orientation and ongoing support to advocates in this ministry role.

Learn more

For additional information about ministry activities of an advocate, visit everence.com/advocate or contact your Everence stewardship consultant.

Active insurance agents, financial advisors/planners, Everence representatives, and their spouses are ineligible to serve as Everence advocates.*

Everence®