

One year later

By Executive Director Dave White

Having completed one year as your Executive Director, now is the perfect time to reflect on what we have accomplished and learned together in the last year. Here are a few of the accomplishments I'd like to highlight:

- We kicked off our online education efforts with Power Supply 101 and The Opioid Epidemic: Awareness and Outreach
- Our electrical safety trainers are now OSHA Outreach Coordinators, having successfully completed the necessary courses and exams.
- We've begun discussions with local technical schools and community colleges to increase the pool of lineworker candidates.
- With your help, we have created and launched a three-year strategic plan that will help NEPPA focus its resources and deliver value to all our members.
- Our publications and materials have a fresh new look to match their important content.
- The NEPPA staff has been reorganized and is now able to even more effectively meet your needs.

In the last year, we've also had some truly amazing events, including our E&O Conference at Gillette Stadium, a fantastic Annual Conference in Lake Placid, and our Lineworkers Rodeo here in Littleton. Thank you to everyone who participated in making these accomplishments a reality. We're on to 2017!
