

Congratulations to our Center investigators, Dr. Diana Hernandez on being awarded tenure, and to Dr. Virginia Rauh on her appointment to the EPA's Children's Health and Protection Advisory Committee.

Dr. Hernández' work focuses on community-oriented research examining the intersections between the built environment, poverty/equity and health. She also serves as the Director for the Community Outreach and Translation Core at the Center.

Dr. Rauh has dedicated her career to child health and development. Her expertise on children's health within an environmental health and justice framework will provide important contributions to the EPA's Children's Health Protection Advisory Committee.

We proudly congratulate both members of the Center.
