Across the US, growing numbers of children and adults live their lives disconnected from the natural world. We're bucking that trend.

UVLT is a nonprofit land conservancy dedicated to the 45 communities of the Upper Valley. We have a record of over 40 years of success, protecting over 580 parcels of land and more than 59,000 acres since 1985. Access to our region's undeveloped land is a privilege and an opportunity for learning. We encourage outdoor enthusiasts to support landowners who have chosen to conserve their lands and protect trails. Please follow UVLT's trail use guidelines, practice thoughtful stewardship, and if you have a chance, say thank you!

PLACES TO LEARN, PLACES TO PLAY

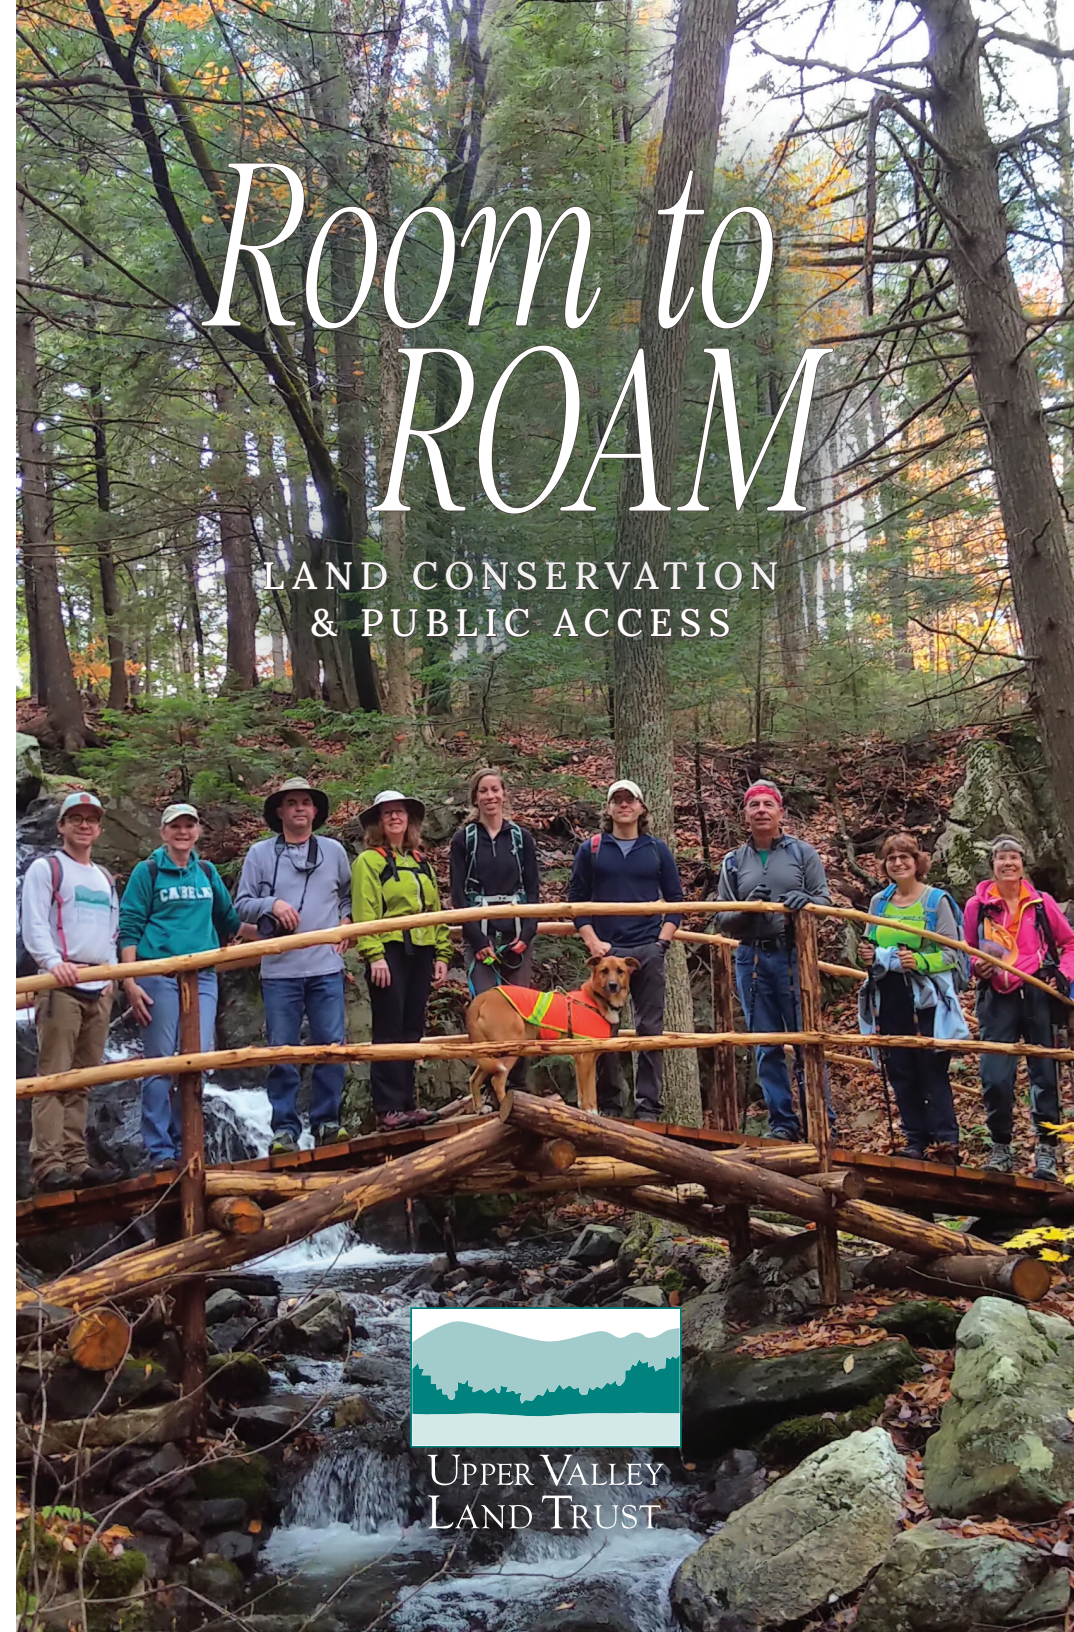

Since 1985, UVLT has worked with Upper Valley landowners to create and maintain trails and open lands. Our trails cross farm and forestland and provide access to scenic vistas and birding areas. Some conserved land is in public ownership, managed by towns or state agencies for parks and public use.

We maintain picnic spots and primitive campsites for use by boaters on the Connecticut River and we have conserved two sites for cartop boat launches.

Dozens of volunteers pitch in to help care for our trails and campsites.
