

DIVERSITY ON THE BOOKSHELF

Building a culturally responsive early childhood library

In this free workshop with children's author Jennifer Torres, learn:

- How to evaluate books for diversity and representation.
- Why children need "windows" and "mirrors" when it comes to books.
- How books can strengthen relationships with parents and caregivers.
- How to develop storytimes and learning activities around multicultural children's literature.

Saturday, July 14

Chavez Central Library
605 N. El Dorado Street, Stockton

Morning Session - 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.
Register here

Afternoon Session - 1 to 4 p.m.
Register here

Participants will receive books, outreach materials, and other resources to build a more diverse classroom or center library.
Professional growth hours available.

This project is supported by a grant from
The James Irvine Foundation.

Hosted by University of the Pacific, San Joaquin County Office of Education, First 5 San Joaquin, Stockton-San Joaquin County Public Library and Barnes & Noble.

Questions: mklocke@pacific.edu

UNIVERSITY OF THE PACIFIC
STOCKTON SACRAMENTO SAN FRANCISCO

