In celebration of Black Breastfeeding Week (August 25-31), we will be hosting a webinar to celebrate the joy of Black Motherhood. This has been a difficult year and we continue to show our resilience and fierce commitment to giving our babies the best nature has to offer, despite the world's constant desire to tear us down.

This year, we will focus on all that is good and uplift the Black mother, acknowledging how far we have come and pausing to reflect on our accomplishments, while celebrating who we are.

We hope that you can join us!
