Final Agenda for Distribution

Meeting Location: Salon 4

ATTORNEY GENERAL AUTHORITY 1:00pm – 3:15pm

State AGs have traditionally exercised their constitutional authority as chief legal officers to decide the appropriate time, place, and manner in which to litigate, halt misconduct and obtain relief for all the residents of their states. Increasingly, counties, cities and other municipalities are independently lending their names to lawsuits seeking separate relief for their citizens. Tens of thousands of opioid lawsuits filed by localities is a prime example, but localities are suing on their own over an ever-expanding range of subjects, such as energy, environmental, and pharmaceutical issues, as well as data privacy and breach cases. These lawsuits impact AG-led efforts to address serious and complex legal and policy issues and are a challenge to the historic role AGs hold in exercising the sovereign power of the state to safeguard public welfare, health and safety. Please join us for a conversation exploring this trend, diagnosing possible repercussions for AG powers and duties, and discussing potential steps to preserve AGs' unique authority.
