

Yarn Doll

In early Kansas, toys were often simple and homemade.

Common toys included marbles, jacks, yo-yos, spin tops, etc.

These toys could be made from readily available materials such as wood, stone, pottery, and fabric.

Dolls were another popular toy because they could be made from scraps of yarn, thread, fabric or other materials on hand like corn husks.

Two young girls play with their dolls outside a frame building in Greeley County, Kansas, 1916.
