Speaker: Tripp Logan, PharmD; Owner – L&S Pharmacy

Pharmacy teams with a Community Health Worker (CHW) can be an innovative solution to impacting patient and community barriers related to Social Determinants of Health (SDoH). Because most of these patient-specific SDoH problems are local, the interventions must be local and meaningful to the patients engaged. However, just as important, these interventions must be longitudinal without continuous monitoring and follow-up. Community pharmacy teams are easily accessible, possess strong, established relationships with the community members they serve, and are equipped to provide medication-related education and services. Community pharmacy teams with a pharmacy technician/CHW are the perfect innovative solution to solving SDoH-related issues. This session will help you identify ways to utilize your staff, your accessibility, and your local relationships to create sustainable SDoH services and revenue.
