Have a voice on the issues facing us!

Currently, there is no local group who has the legal authority to participate where we now need it the most... local elections.

The reason: the existing Political Action Committees (PACs) weigh in on statewide and congressional races, but rarely enter the world of local politics. With term limits, our state and congressional representatives are now coming from our local boards and councils. The need to invest in the right candidates moving forward greatly enhances our position and standing with those who will represent us in the future.
