

The story of your child's creation.

What's new in the classroom?

מה חדש בכתה?

Thursday, February 14, 2019 / 9 Adar I, 5779

Dear Families,

We cannot express with words how proud we are of our students for their fabulous Kabbalat Shabbat program last Friday!!!

Here are some of the things we did this week:

- Worked on three digit division using place value disks
- Shared the work of Langston Hughes, Jon Scieszka, and read animal poetry
- Discussed the word "variable", specifically in relation to the grow tower lighting and its effect on the plants
- Learned about Tecumseh and the Battles in the early 1800's with Britain
- Journalled about our Kabbalat Shabbat program then expressed thoughts with the class about our perspectives
- Chose pieces of learning to share in upcoming portfolios
- Led school tefillah!
- Finished Tar and Sar and started reading a new book
- Listened to a student's experience about going to a presidential candidate's rally, and talked about President's Day
- Learned about the letter aleph and what it indicates from biblical Hebrew to modern day Hebrew
- Worksheets in Tal Am identifying who said what in the Humash and to whom did they say it

Ask your 3rd grader:

- What was the most memorable part of the Kabbalat Shabbat experience for you
- When sharing with your class, did you notice anything interesting about how your classmates felt
- Who was Tecumseh and what did his brother do to go against his wishes
- What was our skit about for parsha at school tefillah

- What do you think was the most interesting tree from Tar and Sar... what are the names in Hebrew for the trees

Ask your 4th grader:

- What part of the Kabbalat Shabbat experience was the most memorable for you
- When sharing with your class about KS, what did you realize
- Why were there so many battles in the early 1800's with the Native Americans, and how were the British involved
- Which tree do you consider to be the tree of life. What did each of the trees provide
- What hebrew letter indicates "ani" from Humash lesson
- What happens in this week Parsha

Caught in Action! 📷 תפִּשְׁנוּ עַל הָם

