

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Northwest Corner Triad to Host Luncheon To Meet the Experts Who Help Local Seniors!

Northwest Corner Triad, a non-profit organization that serves seniors, invites you to a free 'Lunch and Learn' on November 13, 2018 from 11:00 am to 1:30 pm at the Bittermann Center, 2 Daisy Hill Rd, Canaan CT.

The free program entitled "You're Not Alone, Help is Out There." will personally connect guests with the people who offer programs, services and support for seniors. The event begins with Jocelyn Ayer, the Northwest Hills Council of Government's Executive Director and Community & Economic Development Director who will provide an overview of the region's many service agencies, resources and shared initiatives. Western CT Area Agency on Aging's Darylle Willenbrock will follow with a presentation of her agency's vast array of services after which a free lunch will be served. At 12:30 pm, a panel of social service and municipal agents from Triad's service area (below) will discuss the network of support and resources in our local towns.

A free buffet lunch has been generously sponsored by the St. Martin of Tours parishes.

The Northwest Corner Triad (serving Norfolk, Canaan, Salisbury, Falls Village, Sharon, Cornwall, Lakeville) helps educate older adults by offering educational resources to protect against crime, fraud and scams while also providing information on healthy aging and personal safety. Through its partnerships with senior service organizations, local businesses and community agencies, Triad helps ensure that seniors are aware of and know how to access the many support services available to them.

To make reservations for this free program email northwestcornertriad@gmail.com or by calling Tara Decker at 860-453-3130 during normal business hours.
