

Top 5 Reasons to Book with a Travel Advisor

(Tailored to Different Romantic Travel Situations)

1. Honeymoons: You Only Get One First Honeymoon

A honeymoon isn't the time to "hope it works out."

A travel advisor:

- Secures honeymoon perks (upgrades, resort credits, amenities)
- Recommends adults-only resorts that match your vibe
- Coordinates seamless airport transfers after a long wedding week
- Manages room requests (privacy, views, proximity)
- Handles any flight delays or weather disruptions

You focus on celebrating. We handle everything else.

2. Anniversary Trips: Elevated & Intentional

Anniversaries deserve more than just "another beach trip."

A travel advisor:

- Suggests boutique properties that feel refined and special
- Secures reservations at sought-after restaurants
- Arranges private tours or curated experiences
- Designs a trip around your shared interests (wine, culture, sailing, wellness)
- Adds surprise touches to make the milestone memorable

It's not just a trip — it's a celebration of your story.

3. Babymoons: Calm, Comfortable & Easy

Babymoons require thoughtful planning.

A travel advisor:

- Recommends destinations with short travel times
- Ensures comfortable accommodations and easy layouts
- Confirms medical facilities are nearby (if needed)
- Suggests spa resorts with prenatal-friendly options
- Plans low-stress, flexible itineraries

Because this chapter is about rest, not adventure logistics.

- Acts as a single point of contact

You enjoy your event – without becoming the travel coordinator.

5. Luxury Romantic Escapes: Access & Advocacy

For overwater bungalows, private villas, or ultra-luxury resorts, details matter.

A travel advisor:

- Knows which room categories are truly worth it
- Advocates for upgrades and added value

When the trip is meant to feel effortless and elevated, expert planning makes the difference.
