

FUTURESELF DISCOVER

Discover Your Future Today

WHO ARE WE?

FutureSelf Discover (FSD) is a free, inclusive, online community where young people are empowered to take control of their futures. Our platform provides a space for young adults to connect, think introspectively about their interests, and enables them to make informed decisions. We've done the research so that they don't have to.

FSD members gain access to curated information and insights to help them understand educational opportunities, explore possible career paths, get certified in specific skills, meet interested employers, and find a job or internship.

WHY JOIN US?

More information leads to more choices. For too long, students have been presented with limited choices for their futures, with a major focus on four-year college. While this might be the perfect path for some students, it's not for everyone.

More choices lead to better decisions. Apprenticeships, internships, community college, trade school, gap year, military service, and four-year college are all available to students, but only if they know these opportunities exist. We support young people in finding what's next by providing all the tools they need at their fingertips.

Build your Personal Profile

Your online professional profile represents who you are, your accomplishments, and your goals for the future

Find Careers and Internships

Discover what job is the right fit for you and search for roles and internships directly on our site.

Join the FutureSelf Community

Find like-minded members in the FutureSelf community and interact with them through forums, events, and groups.

Explore Informational Resources

Find relevant resources and a curated selection of news on continuing your education, professional development, and personal growth to help you make smart decisions about your future.

Connect with Companies

FutureSelf Members gain full access to our directory of partnered companies and can interact directly with their job recruiters through events and forums.

Get Certified

Upgrade your resume by earning industry-approved certifications for professional skills through our free Certifications program.