3 Ways to Donate:

Advancing the health and happiness of dogs in Western PA by providing education and financial assistance for life-enhancing specialty and integrative veterinary care.

Every dog deserves skilled, compassionate veterinary care.

WHAT WE DO

Our Chin Care Relief Fund provides financial support to responsible dog owners (any breed) who cannot afford specialty or integrative veterinary care.

This includes coverage for diagnostics, medications, advanced procedures, and integrative therapies that improve the quality of life.

Our Healthy Paws Learning Network provides accessible educational resources and advocacy to help dog owners make informed decisions about veterinary care.

This program focuses on integrative approaches (traditional + holistic care), specialty treatment options, and breed-specific health issues.

WHAT INSPIRES US

For the Love of Chin has been inspired by the unconditional love of nine Japanese Chin companions over the past two decades.

Like many Japanese Chin, each has faced significant health challenges—congenital and acquired—that required advanced veterinary care.

Through these experiences, the founder has spent countless hours with veterinarians—general practitioners, specialists, and emergency teams—committed to securing the very best outcomes. While this journey has not been easy, it has been a privilege to prioritize their care and witness their resilience.

During these visits, one reality became painfully clear: many devoted dog parents face an impossible barrier. Too often, financial struggles prevent families from accessing diagnostic tests or treatments that could have helped their beloved companions. Seeing responsible, loving owners leave veterinary clinics with heavy hearts and untreated pets underscored a profound gap in support.

For the Love of Chin was born from this deep compassion and determination: to ensure that no family has to walk away without answers or options simply because of cost.

The organization exists to extend both financial assistance for specialty veterinary care and educational support to help pet owners navigate often-complex treatment decisions with confidence alongside their veterinarians.
