

Know any teens who want to learn and have fun while fulfilling their community service requirement? We've got the best deal in town!

The Discovery Center Teens (DC Teens) is an educational service club for teenagers wanting to make a difference in their community by supporting The Discovery Center's mission to demystify science and make it approachable, understandable - and just really cool - for every age and knowledge level. We do that by creating and executing activities and programs that make science and technology fun for everyone.

DC Teens (grades 8-12) meet others with similar interests, explore science and science-related careers, learn leadership skills through organizational work and event planning, and earn community service credit for volunteer hours.

Have no fear; you don't have to be a whiz at science to participate! DC Teens receive training to help them share science with others.

During training teens develop skills applicable to other areas of their lives and future employment; such as customer service and effective communication.

For more information or to sign up, contact Matthew Chuck at ML_chuck@hotmail.com.