"South Coast is a term that has been applied to this region for as long as any of us can remember. The word 'metro', on the other hand, means a developed area of particular consequence. It must have offices, high-rise buildings, shops and cultural attractions, all well above the norm, and the excitement of striking architecture and interesting spaces for people to enjoy."

"If an area is to be truly metropolitan, it must offer places for people to walk, to enjoy the out-of-doors. To be refreshed by works of natural and man-made art."

Henry T. Segerstrom, Managing Partner,
C. J. Segerstrom & Sons
