

First Amendment FOUNDATION

Protecting Your Right to Know Since 1985

GIVING TUESDAY

The First Amendment Foundation is proud to be a part of Giving Tuesday, a global celebration of giving. By joining the Giving Tuesday movement, you're proving that in times of uncertainty, generosity can be a source of unity.

This year for Giving Tuesday, we will provide a complimentary ticket to watch our next virtual event, "Exposing Epstein's Evils: An Evening with Julie K. Brown and Emily Michot." Tomorrow, when you make any donation on our website's ticket page or through our Eventbrite page, you will receive from FAF a virtual ticket (a link) to join the event. You will receive this ticket no matter the size of your contribution. We hope you will generously support our important mission, defending open government laws and transparency, and spend an evening learning how Freedom of the Press and Open Government go hand-in-hand.

The virtual event will feature the award-winning Miami Herald reporters behind the investigation into Jeffrey Epstein and how he was able to avoid federal prosecution for sex crimes. Brown, Michot, and FAF President Pamela Marsh will discuss how this reporting highlights the critical role of investigative journalism in exposing crime and corruption and holding those in power accountable.

Donate and purchase tickets here.

Thank you for your support and commitment to open government.

A dark blue banner with white and yellow text. On the left is the First Amendment Foundation logo. To the right are two circular headshots of women. The text includes the event title, date, and time.

 First Amendment FOUNDATION

PRESENTS
Exposing Epstein's Evils:
An Evening with Julie K. Brown and Emily Michot

Livestreamed on Wednesday, December 2
7:30 - 9:00 p.m.