Story: “Peony Vase” was based on a photograph of three peonies that sat on the dining table with evening light filtering through. Peonies are one of my favourite flowers. Capturing the white shading was a challenge.

The Peony Vase was created using a collage method, using fusible web and parchment paper to create sections and then assembled onto a backing fabric. There were four main “white” fabrics that were enhanced with paint and intense pencils. The background was grid quilted and free motion over the vase and flowers. I added a black chiffon to the base to create interest and texture.
