Story: I always feel bad/sad about all the scraps we generate as quilters so I determined to create 'something' out of all those scraps at the end of any project or retreat, etc...

Now when I refer to scraps I'm referring to the Real Scraps! You know- the pieces that go into the garbage! Not the remnants bag or leftovers! No I mean pieces scrapped! I do often simply add a foundation fabric piece or a found binding but stick to scraps whenever possible.

I have created many different projects with scraps but once I got the idea of a crazy portrait I just had so much fun. So I decided to create a series of crazy portraits. I also decided I could use many different techniques and fibres. As you can see there is applique, thread painting, thread play, cording, etc.

My goal is to continue this series for a whole year and see where I end up. I have done some portraits on rocks, some with rocks, some with paint on paper, paper collage, etc...

It's all about having fun. And being creative is always fun! Hope you enjoy My Group of Seven... plus one
