Day 5: July 25th. Fez

You will spend a full day in Fez (Fes), a sprawling city over 1,200 years old. Its well-preserved old town (medina) is a vast maze of winding streets and alleys, crowded aromatic bazaars and eclectic architecture. No cars are allowed so transport there is in the ancient, traditional style, on foot. Choose the focus of your morning walking tour with an official guide and enjoy our first walking tour in the old town (medina) in which you will sample the local cuisine, get an insider's look at the craftsmanship of the artisans who make intricate hand-crafted carvings, rugs, leatherwork and metalwork, see historical mosques and souqs or explore the Jewish quarter and learn about the influence on local cuisine and culture. After lunch in the medina, you will be given a tour of the city's famous leather tanneries, which are dominated by numerous deep, multicolored pools of dye. Here preparing leather is done in the same way as in medieval times to supply the artisans of the souks and bazaars. At the end of the day you will return to your riad and have dinner on your own.

Overnight stay in Fez

Meals: Breakfast

Day 6: July 26th. Meknes- Chefchaouen

A day trip to Meknes, the walled city of Spanish-Moorish architecture that dates back to the 11th century and rose to glory in the 17th century under the rule of Sultan Moulay Ismail. He made Meknes the capital of his empire. Sultan Moulay Ismail was a powerful and ruthless leader who liberated Morocco from the Ottomans and Europeans. The walking tour of the old city includes Moulay's stables that could house 12,000 horses and was designed to water and feed them with an aqueduct and granary. After some free time at the medina, we board our bus for the ruins of Volubilis. Volubilis is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. A tour of Volubilis, one of the most well-preserved Roman cities in North Africa will be provided by a local guide. Depart to Chefchaouen for a 3-hour bus trip through the Rif Mountains to the resplendent blue medina of Chefchaouen, known as the blue city that attracts thousands of people annually.

Day 9: July 29th. Orce

Depart to Orce at 9:00am (90 minutes from Granada) to see the new Arche-paleontological discovery in Orce. The arche-paleontological sites of Orce are revealed, once again, keys to understand the first human occupation. The orceño deposits are characterized by the quantity and variety of human activities, combined with the great diversity of other vertebrate species that coexisted in a large lake converted, today, into ravines and ravines.

The Barranco Leon deposit receives the privilege of being the oldest human occupation in the European continent. In it, archaeologists record much of the variety of activities that our most remote ancestors would carry out: stone carving and the processing of herbivore carcasses. In Barranco León, dominated by two species closely linked to water, the hippopotamus and the tortoise, percussions have been recovered with which the hominids fractured other rocks to obtain sharp edges and also useful heavy elements with which to break bones to access the marrow that is.

Overnight stay in Granada

Day 10: July 30th. Granada-Malaga

A half tour in Granada that includes a scenic drive to 13th-century Moorish Alhambra Palace and the Generalife gardens in Granada, created to reflect the Moors' vision of paradise on Earth. Explore them during this guided visit. Guitarist Andres Segovia described Granada, nestled in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada, as a "place of dreams." Finish the day with the Albaizin sunset neighborhood tour.
