

Opportunity

Paid internship with The Water Report professional water publication.

Salary: $16/hour

Hours: Approximately 8 hours/week – Hours are flexible and will vary

Application deadline: Open until filled

This is a remote position.

Why

Water is arguably the most important natural resource we have. We use water to support our economy, society, and environment and there is not much we can do without it.

The Western United States is facing increasing water resource challenges. The goal of The Water Report is to provide water professionals with information from across water industries to help cross-pollinate ideas and inspire creative solutions to the challenges being faced.

Who

The Water Report is a monthly newsletter for water lawyers, engineers, regulatory agencies, tribes, municipalities, environmental organizations, and anyone interested in water law, water rights, and water quality in the western United States. Now in its twentieth year of publication, The Water Report is considered by many to be the “publication of record” for coverage of water issues in the West. Relying on fellow working professionals to report on and analyze the full range of water policy, management, and legal issues facing the West, The Water Report is the best available chronicle of what’s working and what’s not. We publish in-depth articles on legislation, research, projects, and solutions that impact the western US.

You

We are seeking an individual who cares about what is happening in water, wants to stay informed, and plans to be the future of water leadership.

This position will offer you the ability to expand your water industry network, work and learn from industry leaders, and hone your communication skills.

Tasks will include:

- Conducting market research

- Assisting with content development
- Posting content on social media (LinkedIn and Twitter primarily)
- Responding to comments on social media

Must be proficient in Microsoft Word and Excel.

Apply Now

This position will be open until filled so we encourage you to apply today.

To apply please send your application to info@thwaterreport.com and include the following:

- Your resume/CV.
- A sample writing piece that exemplifies your communication skills. This can be any length and, on any topic, but water related-content is a plus.
- A short description (500 words or less) of why you want to work with The Water Report and why you would be the perfect candidate.
- A short description (500 words or less) of any marketing experience you have (LinkedIn and Twitter expertise is a bonus).