Keynote Speaker/Breakout Leader - Pardeep Kaleka

Mr. Kaleka is the Executive Director of Interfaith Conference of Greater Milwaukee, founder of Serve2Unite, published author of "The Gifts of Our Wounds," and a clinician specializing in utilizing a trauma-informed approach to treat survivors and perpetrators of assault, abuse and acts of violence. A native of Punjab, India, Pardeep Singh Kaleka grew up in Milwaukee, WI. As a former Police Officer and educator in the city of Milwaukee, Pardeep understands the difficulty facing our communities locally and abroad. Both in his practice and out, Pardeep's passion remains one of healing and transformation. An example of this is Serve2Unite, an organization he co-founded in response to tragedy and works alongside Arno Michaelis, Global Peacemaker. This organization engages communities in building healthy social fabric and communal identity to address conflict from a trauma-informed lens. Over the past 7 years, the work of Serve2Unite has been locally and internationally recognized.

"Ok Boomer" Talking About Racism Across Generations

The "ok Boomer" phrase and memes demonstrates that there is a clear disconnect between the generations. It is my belief that we must create opportunities to have much need dialogue as well as experiences about the history of racism in the USA and the role of faith.
