

ESL Coaches Needed for 2018-19 Program Year

The Professional Learning Opportunities Project (ProLO) is currently recruiting adult education practitioners from PDE-funded programs to work as English as a Second Language (ESL) Coaches during the 2018-19 program year. We ask that you, as the agency administrator or in-house professional development specialist, consider the talents of your staff in regard to the recruitment request.

Who are we recruiting?

- Instructors with experience and expertise in ESL who would be interested in facilitating online and/or face-to-face courses, or who could help in the development of instructional design plans for new courses.
- Instructors with teaching experience and/or teacher mentoring experience in ESL to work as Table Coaches to support adult educators in learning content and understanding the application of new content during face-to-face professional development opportunities including institutes, conferences, or training.
- Instructors with teaching experience and/or teacher mentoring experience in ESL to work as Coaches to support the implementation of instruction at the agency level, with both groups and individual instructors.

Why are we recruiting?

During the 2018-19 program year, ProLO plans to utilize coaches and individuals with content expertise to support training and courses. We realize that Pennsylvania-funded agencies include talented practitioners, and we want to utilize the talents and expertise of the field.

Additional information

- Agency administrators must sign off on all questionnaires, as payment for services will go through the agency. Coaches and content experts may not work as independent contractors.
- ProLO will provide coach training to support the demands of the coaching role.
- Coaching hours are dependent on the coaching role and the availability of the individual.
